The new 2020 coins-

Team GB 50p-

Because this year is the Tokyo Olympics, we have been given a brand new 50p coin to support the GB team in the Tokyo Olympic Games.

This 2020 50p has been designed by David Knapton, who designed the four Paddington coins. It looks like the 2011 WWF coin, that was designed by Mathew Dent. This coin features symbols depicting individual Olympic sports accompanied by the Olympic Rings, the Team GB logo and the inscription 'TEAM GB'.

The Olympic set is an incredibly popular set of 29 coins. For many, the 2012 Olympic 50p series marked the start for 50p collecting. With the 2016 and now 2020 coins, these are like the 30th and 31st coins in the set. I personally like this style of design and I think many others will too.

Agatha Christie £2-

It is 100 years since the English detective novelist Agatha Christie published her first novel, 'The Mysterious Affair at Styles' and now, 100 years later, a £2 coin has been released to celebrate this anniversary and her work.

Her 1920 novel introduced the loved detective, Hercule Poirot, who became a long-running character in Christie's work, featuring in 33 novels and 54 short stories!

This coin has been designed by David Lawrence and features a nearly completed jigsaw puzzle with the final piece ready to be inserted, and the inscription '1920 100 YEARS OF MYSTERY 2020'.

Because of the popularity of some other coins celebrating writers (Jane Austen £2, Sherlock Holmes 50p, Charles Dickens £2, the Beatrix Potter 50ps), This coin is sure to be a big hit with collectors.

Mayflower £2-

This year is a big anniversary for Mayflower's Voyage, as it marks 400 years since it left Plymouth, England to the 'New World' in 1620.

This voyage took two treacherous months to complete and saw over 100 Pilgrims and 30 crew battle against the North Atlantic wind as they ventured to America to establish the first permanent New England colony.

Designed by Chris Costello, the Mayflower £2 shows the ship on its journey through the sea, with a guiding star in the night sky. This coin's edge inscription is 'Undertaken for the glory of God'.

Excitingly for collectors, this is not the first time that The Mayflower has appeared on a £2 coin, as a similar design actually featured on the 1994 trial piece, but sells for well into three figures on the secondary market!

75th Anniversary of VE Day £2-

The next coin is commemorating 75 years since VE Day and the end of the Second World War.

This coin celebrates the Allies of World War II formally accepting Nazi Germany's unconditional surrender of its armed forces on the 8th May 1945, marking the end of the war. This is known as Victory Day in Europe.

Dominique Evans' design features a woman holding a newspaper in a crowd of celebrating people, set against a backdrop of the word VICTORY. The edge inscription reads 'JUST TRIUMPH AND PROUD SORROW'.

George III £5-

This year marks the 200th anniversary since the death of George III, who was King of Great Britain and Ireland.

George set the record of the longest life and reign of any British monarch before him, but due to his deteriorating health during the last 10 years of his life, his eldest son George IV took reign and ruled as Prince Regent.

To celebrate the life of George III, The Royal Mint have issued a new £5 coin designed by Dominique Evans.

The coin features two monarchs- King George III and the Queen, which is unlike most other coins. He is seen wearing a crowned cartouche at the centre of the coin, with his Royal Cypher below and scenes associated with his life from Windsor Castle and the Kew Observatory.

The Queen £5 coin-

This is the first ever coin in The Royal Mint's Music Legends £5 series. And for the first time ever, QUEEN feature on a brand new UK coin!

The £5 coin features a design by Chris Facey. It showcases the iconic instruments of all four founder members of the band: Britain May's Red Special guitar, John Deacon's Fender Precision Bass, Roger Taylor's Ludwig bass drum, and Freddy Mercury's Bechstein grand piano. A nice touch to this coin is that the opening notes to Bohemian Rhapsody are pressed down.

The band was formed in 1970 and released their debut album in 1973. From one hit to another, Queen rocked the nation and became an extremely well-known icon, creating many unique songs, which are still loved to this day. I'm sure many collectors are excited by this brand new coin release and the start of the Music Legends £5 series as it is the first ever band to feature on a coin. We are not yet sure what the next coins will be, but I will be sure to inform you when it comes out!

This coin is available in BU, silver proof and gold proof condition.
